Majestic

Copyright Notice

Majestic All chapters.

By Melis-E-Rowe

Ex Libris Sapientiae

2011 by Melis-E-Rowe. All Rights Reserved.

No reuse, redistribution, or modification without permission.

Printing: Not allowed without explicit permission.

ID: 229. View this Book Online

Table of Contents

1. Majestic 5

2. Majestic Part 2 21

3. Majestic part3 31

4. Majestic 4 37

5. Majestic4 continued!!!! 43

6. Majestic 5 53

7. Majestic 6 59

8. Majestic 6 continued!!! 71

9. majestic 7 81

10. Majestic 8 95

11. Majestic 9 103

12. Majestic 10 107

Chapter 1

Majestic

This is the start of the Story let me know what you think.....

COMMENT....

Mel... :D :D :D

1. First day of school.

My alarm buzzed in my ear, waking me from my peaceful sleep.

"Ahhh, not now" I moaned turning to see that it was still dark outside.

Under the duvet i was protected from everything and everyone.

I knew that if i stayed in bed any longer i would soon drift asleep and not wake up untill this dreaded day was over.

Sighing i rolled out of bed and onto the cold wooden floor.

"Ouch" i growled.

My still sleepy body crawled it way to the bathroom.

In the reflection i looked dead, i had bags under my eyes, my hair was a huge mess and to my great distaste i had found a unwanted visitor that clearly wasn't there when i fell asleep last night.

The shower ran cold at first and gradually started to warm up.

I quickly jumped in not knowing exactly how long the hot water would last.

The water ran down my back awakening my weakened bones.

I quickly washed my hair and shaved my legs, before stepping out and wrapping myself in my white robe.

Everyone was still alseep unaware of the time.

Over by my closet i chose to wear my white Skinny jeans and my Black tank top, grabbing the first pair of shoes i could find, i ran back to the bathroom.

I decided to tackle my face first, using the last bit or Cream i rubbed it on the newly exposed spot!

Foundation was next, then came the Eyeliner, i decided to go for a dark look also adding black eye shadow and last of all mascara.

My hair was unbearable!

Switching on the hair dryer, i began to dry my hair.

"Hayden, get up" My Brother Harvey shouted clearly not hearing the dryer.

"I'm up! " i shouted back annoyed.

It was always the same at my house, my father would come home late, and sleep till the afternoon before he went back to work again.

My mother slept late, then woke up late. Once she was awake she hid in her office typing away on her laptop, inspiring young children all over the world.

That left me and my two brothers and one sister, Harvey, Jake, and Elizabeth to fend for our selves.

The mornings were always a quite event, no one daring to wake the Parents.

I always made breakfast, normally i'd make pancakes, or a full cooked English breakfast, but today i was not very enthusiastic about cooking, so they'll have to deal with Toast.

I practically ran down stairs to make breakfast, but it was already laid out, Five plates of Pan cakes covered in fruit and chocolate syrup stared back at me.

I looked around dazed, who could have made breakfast, my brothers and sister had only just got up, that left my Parents.

"Well don't i get a morning kiss?" He asked from behind me.

Smiling i turned around to see my father (David) wearing a white bath robe, his bed hair not combed smiling back.

"Course you do" I said hugging him and kissing his cheek.

"Erm, dad whats with all this?" I asked.

"First day of school Hayden, it's a tradition" He said pushing past me and sitting down on his usual chair the farthest from the door.

It might be tradition but that tradition had been broken for the past three years, ever since he got his new now old job, and my mothers writing hit best seller.

"Sure is dad" i didn't mange to add as much enthusiasm as i'd planned to.

I moved over to my seat and sat down, the Pancakes tasted like heaven, he was the best cook in our family, my brothers say i took after him, while they took after our mother.

"Your mother should be down here, but she was still awake this morning, so i'm letting her sleep" My father stated.

"Dad, you do know she sleeps around that time every night" i pointed out.

A sad look crept onto his face as he nodded.

I instantly regretted my words, giving all my attention to eating i finished breakfast before the others came down.

"WOW" Lizzie's voice came first followed by Harvey and Jake's.

"This is great dad"

"Hmmm, i'm having double"

Greedy Bastard i thought smiling mentally.

The clock reached eight, meaning time to get to school, sighing i stood up and washed my plate, kissing my dad and waving at the rest i left the house.

My brothers and sister are all at college.

The weather was warm, for September, but dark cloud were high ahead.

The walk to school was a short ten minutes.

Year 11 the last year of Palm High.

Keeping my head down i entered school, walking quickly to my locker to relief my back from the heavy books i had to carry today.

My new schedule was pinned up on the door of my locker, looking at it i realised, i had history twice, Spanish then double Gym and last English.

Mondays, always the worst day of school.

To my great enjoyment the first three periods ended quickly meaning time for dinner.

The cafeteria was already half full, i made my way up to the counter to choose what i was going to eat.

I decided on having chips and cheese and a diet coke.

My usual table sat at the back, a two seater.

Normally i'd sit there with my best friend Ellis, but this summer she got a boyfriend Toby, meaning we've hardly seen each other all summer, and that she now sat with Toby and his friends.

Ellis had said earlier.

"Hayden, come sit with us, it'll be fun."

"Look, i'm just not in the mood to sit with a bunch of people who only seem to talk about Football and cheerleading, but be my guest you go join them" i said a bit hurt that she'd even think i'd sit with them after what they had done to me.

"Fine, i will, God why are you so stubborn" Ellis said walking away.

I was pulled to the present when Alicia the most popular girl in our school walked in, the sound of her heels piercing my ear drums.

Ugh, why would you wear platform shoes to school especially when we had double Gym next.

I ate my dinner in silence avoiding eye contact with the whole world, as if they'd look at me any way.

At three o'clock it was raining, and i had only brought a small jacket, what a stupid thing to do in London.

Slipping on my jacket i pulled it around me as much as i can before leaving the school.

While i was walking i heard the sound of music coming from an approaching car, i looked inside to see the Ellis was sat next to Toby and the two Blonde Bitches, chatting and singing loudly to the songs playing.

Ellis looked at me and smiled, i smiled back that caught Alicia's attention she said something to Ellis making Ellis roll her eyes at me.

That hurt a lot!!!

The lights was off at home meaning that Dad was at work Harvey, Jake and Lizzie was still at college, and surprisingly Mum was out too.

Yes, time alone. I wanted to dance to sing, i didn't have to smile and pretend to be cheery i could go home get some ben and jerry's ice cream and eat till my hearts content.

And thats exactly what i did.

An hour Later, the door unlocked, and in walked in Lizzie.

"Hey, Hayden, need to talk to you now, kitchen" She said walking at full speed to the kitchen.

Rolling my eyes i followed her.

She was stood near the sink looking at me.

"So what's up" i Asked.

"Mum and dad told me after you left, that Gran's really ill, and that they'll be gone for the week."

Lizzie began a smile creeping on her face.

"And" i encouraged.

"Well i talked to Harvey and Jake and they think its a good idea too, what do you do when your parent go out of town?" She asked.

"I don't know" I answered knowing exactly what she was getting at.

"Throw a Party!" She shouted wiggling her hips.

"Ohhh" i said.

"You're not excited?" she asked looking worried walking over to me and putting an arm around my shoulder.

"It's just that i have no one to invite" i whispered honestly.

" Aw don't worry honey, we'll deal with all that, all you have to do is get the food ready, we'll decorate and get the alcohol" Lizzle said handing me a piece of paper, with the names of what food i had to make.

"So when's the Party?" i asked.

"Friday night"

"I though they was going for the week" i asked.

"Yeah they come back Monday" Lizzle said kissing me on my head and walking upstairs.

Friday

All week school was exactly the same, But at home the atmosphere was incredible, everyone walking around getting read for the party, food spread out on the dining room table, Alcohol all round the sides, fizzy drinks for the non drinkers and also J2O's for the people who don't have fizzy, apparently there was between fifteen to twenty people coming tonight.

Lizzie also mentioned that she'd got one of her friends band to perform tonight, live music awesome.

The party was going to take place all downstairs and the outside patio, which luckily had a roof.

After about an hour, i was dressed in a slick short black dress, i'd curled my long brown hair, made my eyes look smoky. The house was all ready and the living room was occupied by the band setting up their instruments.

I hadn't seen the band yet, or even heard them but Lizzie kept telling me that they was fantastic.

The guests started to arrive.

I had started to loose count, on how many people had turned up but i'm sure there was more then twenty.

I felt someone poke my shoulder, i turned around and saw Ellis looking at me clearly apologetic.

"What, do you want?" i asked.

"I'm here to say sorry, Aw Hayden, i've been such a bitch to you. Will you please forgive me one last time?" she begged.

"Oh ok, but Ellis last time" i warned.

"I promise i'll never ditch you again" She said hugging me.

"Wanna stay for the party?" i asked.

"sure" she smiled linking arms with me.

I knew for a fact i couldn't stay mad at Ellis for long.

We walked over to the living room and sat on the two spare seats on the sofa, waiting for the band to start performing.

"Hey..Listen people, i have a huge surprise lets give a round of applause to Majestic." Lizzie said Jumping up and down.

Four very good looking college boys came out smiling.

One of them who walked over to the drums, had bleach blonde hair, he was very muscular, and looked like a ladies man.

The second walked over to one of the guitars. He has long brown hair pulled back into a pony tail, he was very slim.

The third person walked over to the other guitar, he had short blonde hair and looked exactly like the boy behind the drums. Twins i noticed.

When the forth boy walked out, i couldn't help but stare.

He had short black hair sweeping across one eye, and Green sparkling eyes, the straightest nose i had ever seen, lips plump and very tempting.

He was muscular but not as big as the other Blonde guys.

He walked over to the mic and started to sing.

His voice sent goose bumps all over my body, i couldn't help but stare at him all through his song.

Near the end his eyes drifted to mine, they held my gaze, i couldn't look away,

"Hayden" Ellis said nudging me.

I was released from his gaze, i blushed bright red and turned around....

Ellis grabbed hold of my hand and dragged me out of the room, and up to my bedroom.

"Hayden, what was that all about?" She asked.

"I don't know what your talking about." I whispered not able to look at her.

"I mean, you was staring at him, and he was staring at you" She carried on.

"Oh" i said.

"So what" she asked again.

"I dunno" i said turning towards the door and walking down the stairs to the party.

I wasn't looking where i was going so it was typical that i'd crash into someone and fall flat on my Ass.

Two intensely green eyes stared down at me.

Chapter 2

Majestic Part 2

Hey. This is Part two. Hope you enjoy it. :D :D :D

Comments please.

x

2. The day that changed my life

Recap*

*I wasn't looking where i was going, so it was typical that i'd crash into someone and fall flat on my Ass.

Two intensely green eyes stared down at me*

Oh shit.

There he was the lead singer, his black hair swept over his left eye.

I of course blushed bright red for the second time that day.

"You ok?" he asked. His voice reminded me of what i'd imagined Mr Darcy's voice to sound like.

"Yes" i said.

We stared at each other for another five minutes, before he reached his hand towards me.

I looked at it puzzled, i felt so stupid, i'd sat there staring at him like some psycho.

Reluctantly i reached out and took his hand, his hands was strong and smooth, i felt shivers run down my spine, it must simply be pleasure.

"you had a nasty fall, let me get you some water" He said smiling.

"Sure" i answered, my voice sounded small and unsure.

"My name is james by the way" He Said leading me towards the kitchen.

James what a sexy name.

"I'm Hayden!" i answered.

James looked at me from under his lashes and said.

"Your Lizzies sister" he stated.

Great thats how he's going to remember me.

"Yes" i said smiling.

His answering smile was dazzling.

It left me speechless.

I hadn't noticed that the kitchen was now empty, i looked around and saw empty used cups and rubbish covering the surfaces.

"You've got a lot of cleaning to do i guess!" James said walking over to the tap and running the cold water.

"Yeah, it's going to take forever" I said sighing.

James walked over to the cupboards trying to find a cup, i pointed to where they stood.

"Thanks" he said. Rinsing the cup and pouring me a cold glass of water.

"Thank you" i answered taking it from him.

He smiled a smile that made me think that was his charmer smile.

James sat opposite me and his chin resting in his hand, his black hair falling over his forehead.

I felt uncomfortable, i wasn't used to being watched by guys, never mind Deeply Sexy guys.

"Soo." James began.

"yep" i answered.

I looked at james and got lost in his eyes all over again.

"Hayden" Ellis shouted walking into the kitchen and seeing me and James sat across from each other.

"oh hey" i answered looking away from James unwillingly.

"where the hell did you go, i've been looking everywhere" Ellis Said, her hands on her hips for dramatic effect.

"In the kitchen" i answered rolling my eyes at her.

James stayed quite looking out of the window, his eyes drifted to me every now and then.

After a long quite five minutes Ellis decided that she should head home, i agreed and showed her the door.

"Hayden, he's Hot" She squealed.

I looked back towards the kitchen.

Yes he is.

But that wasn't something i was going to share with Ellis.

"Hmm" i answered.

"I'll see you later Ellis" I said for the final time waving and closing the door.

I practically ran toward the kitchen to see him washing the cups.

"You don't have to do that" i said walking over to him.

"I know, but i want to" He added, smiling at me.

I smiled back and started removing the rubbish from the table.

"Where is everyone?" i asked, finally realising that they was no body around.

"Some are outside and some left after our performance."

"Why, what time is it?" i asked looking for the clock.

Ten o'clock, not that late.

"Ten" he simply answered, before turning to face me.

"James, if your band has gone then why are you still here?" i asked.

"should i leave?" he asked pulling a very cute face.

"No, i just wondered thats all, how old are you?" i asked looking away.

"i'm nineteen. You?" Nineteen but then that means he's left College.

"sixteen, are you in university?" i asked,

"Yep, my first year" james stated.

But then why would he come to a college party when i'm sure they throw bigger and better ones at uni.

I stared at James and he looked at me, his eyes sparkled like diamonds, i got lost in them and completely forgot what we was talking about.

"Hayden!" Lizzie shouted coming through the outside door and into the kitchen.

"What" i said looking in her direction.

"Mum and dad are on their way home" Lizzie Screamed.

Crap, Crap, Crap, Crap.

Every thing worked over time, James, Harvey, Jake, me, and Lizzie, started cleaning everything up.

With in two hours, the house looked the same as it had yesterday.

The only noticeable thing was the instruments on the floor in the sofa.

James started packing them away, with all of us helping him.

The door unlocked, a key turned in the key hole, the door opened slowly.

All eyes averted to the door, and in walked in Dad!

His eyes looked at everyone in turn and then stayed on James.

"Whats all this" He asked walking to stand in front of James.

"Dad, it's nothing" i answered, he looked at me then back at James.

His eyes looked outraged.

"Why is he in my house and this time of the night" He screamed looking at me and the others.

"Dad" i couldn't think of anything to say.

"He's my boyfriend" Lizzie whispered quietly. I looked at Lizzie then at James, was it just to get dad out of our faces, or if it was the truth.

Then something hit me, when he found out my name, his instant answer was are you Lizzie's sister.

He's at Uni but came to a college party.

James looked at me with pleading eyes.

I looked at Lizzie, not sure what to think.

So i walked away and into my bedroom where i locked the door and hid under my duvet, hoping that darkness would make me forget all my thoughts.

But it did not!

Chapter 3

Majestic part3

Hey.....

Hope you like....

COMMENT PLEASE....

Mel. :D :D :D :D

Sorry it's short.

3. The truth

The weekend ended to quickly.

I'm not talking to Lizzie, i don't feel like it, i'd rather imagine that nothing has changed then find out it's true about Her and James.

Sunday night i dreamt of him...

The bar full with people drinking and enjoying the music, James's voice echoing in my head, his scent surrounding me, the lyrics sending emotion to every corner of my body.

Tall and slim college girls watching him hungrily.

Lizzie never taking her eyes of me.

James never taking his eyes away from her.

Anger, sorrow, sadness, all waiting to capture me.

Then his green eyes find mine, pleading, begging for forgiveness.

But what did i have to forgive we wasn't dating, nothing happened between us....

That's right nothing happened, no need to be upset, no need to be mad.

I'm going to stop being so childish and be happy for Lizzie.

After all James deserves some one great, even if it isn't me.

The truth behind my words was very painful, it cut through me, leaving me paralyzed for ever.

Warm liquid rolling down my face slowly woke me up.

I couldn't breath, everything was dark, darker then usual.

The only light source was the moon.

Mum and dad had returned, Harvey and Jake was never around.

Lizzie tried talking to me, but i just ignored her.

Everything seemed to have changed.

The closeness we'd shared has evaporated.

After running upstairs Friday night my dad had walked in to check on me.

I wasn't crying but it was obvious i was upset.

"Hey.... baby whats the matter" he'd asked in a voice with so much worry and concern.

"Nothing Dad" my answer did not please him.

His strong arms wound around me while i wept silently.

It was stupid to cry over something so lame.

"you can tell me" he said.

No, i really couldn't.

My dad has always been there for me protecting me from bullies, protecting me from getting my heart broken by boys. But my heart hadn't been broken by a boy; it had been broken by a Man.

I wanted so badly to explain everything, and tell him how stupid i was and that i didn't want to talk to Lizzie or James any time soon, but that meant telling him about the party, and that i really didn't want to do.

So i kept my tear locked away hoping that he'd leave.

But he did not.

Ten minutes, twenty minutes, he just stayed there. I got fed up.

"dad" i began.

"Yes my Angel" he said.

"Is it ok if i go and get a shower, i feel very stressed" He looked at me trying to judge my expression but agreed kissing my forehead he left the room closing the door behind him.

Sighing i walked to the bath room and ran the shower, taking of my clothes i stepped in, letting the warm water run down my back and take away the bad memories off tonight....

I must have sat there day dreaming for hours, because now it was getting light.

Not taking a shower i brushed my teeth and did my hair and makeup, got changed into the first thing i could find i ran downstairs to make my own breakfast.

I wasn't prepared to cook for Lizzie.

I decided on having an apple.

I could hear them getting up so i grabbed my bag, and stepped out of the door, and into the street.

School didn't start for another hours, so i walked around for a while.

That's when i spotted a bar.

The building was old, with a large wooden door, and shuttered window, music was coming from inside.

I walked up to it and reached for the handle, it was shaped as a red rose.

Once inside i could see the place from my dream. Everything exactly the same.

The bar was brown made from wood, with alcohol hanging behind, the table was wooden also but covered in a red blankets.

The stage where Majestic sang stood still with no instruments on.

Where Lizzie sat, there stood an empty wine glass.

I felt someone's breathing behind me.

Turning around i regretted ever entering the bar.

Chapter 4

Majestic 4

Sorry for the wait.

COMMENT PLEASE. :D :D :D

4. The truth continued.....

Recap * I felt someone breathing behind me. Turning around i regretted ever entering the bar. *

Lizzie, stood there wearing a small red dress, her hair waving down her back.

Standing behind her was James.

It was true, it was all true, Lizzie and James together.

What was she doing here, what were they doing here.

James walked over to me.

"Hayden" he began.

I shook my head and stared at Lizzie.

She didn't look sad, quite the opposite actually.

She smiled at me and tried to put her arm around James, but he moved out of the way.

His eyes stayed glued to my face, but i wouldn't look back.

He walked over to the bar and got me a glass of water, handing it to me.

I Took it still not looking at him.

"What, was you" i was cut off.

"Hayden we need to talk" James said pulling me down on one of the chairs next to him.

"I better, go" Lizzie answered not looking at me she kissed James on the cheek grabbing her jacket she walked out of the bar, i stared after her.

Anger and humiliation ran through me.

My eyes started to water, i turned away from James and attempted to wipe them away.

"Hayden" he began.

"Look, me and Lizzie, it's difficult, i'm not sure where we stand" He tried to explain.

"So" i made him carry on.

"I called her here last night to end things" James said looking at my every reaction.

"Oh, is that why she was here all night" i asked quite not believing what he was trying to tell me.

"Yes" James explained.

"Bull shit, does it take all night to end things, really" i said starting to get angrier all over again.

"We had a lot of situations to talk about" James explained trying the judge my expressions.

I rolled my eyes and took a drink of my water, i looked at james.

His black hair was pulled behind his ears, Green eyes watching my every move, he wore a black buttoned top and dark blue jeans.....

James POV

Hayden sat next to me facing the bar, i know she doesn't believe a thing i'm saying, but its the truth.

And i will make her believe it too.

She had on a long white top with a simple black jacket over. She wore black skinny jeans and white flip flops.

Her brown hair hung straight down her back.

Fantastic brown eyes looking everywhere but at me.

The silence was unbearable, how can i make her see that theres nothing going on with me and Lizzie any more.

Hayden POV

I cant take this anymore, the silence makes me feel funny, and uneasy especially with James sitting right next to me.

The clock struck eight, time to go.

Standing up i flipped on my coat and turned around to face James, who was now standing behind me with his hands in his pockets.

We stood there looking at each other for another couple of minutes, before i decided it was now time to leave.

"Hayden, please don't go" James said, looking at the floor, which was a polished brown wooden floor.

"i've got school" i said turning to face the door.

"Well then let me drive you". James said looking at me from under his lashes.

"Ok" i finally agreed after a long while of silence.

The drive to school was a quite event, neither one of us dared to talk.

The school was already crowded people all sat in their own groups chatting about irrelevant subjects.

Once James parked the car by the side walk, the group of cheerleaders standing close by looked at him hungrily.

I felt myself blush red.

"Hayden" James said in a very sexy intoxicating tone.

"Yes" I answered smiling at him slightly.

"I'll see you around" James said bending down to kiss my cheek.

The watching bimbo's squeaked and started talking about me like i wasn't there.

James jumped into his car, but before driving off he rolled down his window and said.

"Look after yourself Hayden" before honking and leaving the school premises.

Chapter 5

Majestic4 continued!!!!

Ok just thought you should know!

I tried to make it longer but i'm writer at 20 to 11 at night and frankly i'm tired....

So hope it's ok and

COMMENT PLEASE.

Just wanna say thank you to the people who are reading and Voting....

I also wanna say thanks for being my Fans. :P

Love you all Mel...

:D :D :D

COMMENT PLEASE AND PLEASE PLEASE PLEASE BE HONEST!

ALL COMMENTS WELCOME NEGATIVE OR POSOTIVE.

:D :D xxxx

Chapter 4 Continued!

Once in the safety of school i ran to the girls bathroom, locking myself in a cubicle i sat on the seat and dragged my knees to my chest and cried a quiet cry.

I hoped no one would hear me and come in, i was trying not to make a sound but failing miserably.

So James said they wasn't doing anything and that they was over, but did i believe him I'm not sure.

Lizzie knowing i'm upset still stood there smiling and kissing James even if it was a peck on the cheek.

I was mad and upset, confused and tired very tired.

School seemed a very bad idea right now.

Inhaling i walked over to the sink and washed my face, my mascara and eyeliner had ran and was now half way down my cheek, my eyes was red and puffy.

It took a long ten to fifteen minutes before i completely removed the make up and started to look a little bit more human.

The second bell announcing class had started ran while i was in the middle of removing the unwanted eye make up.

The toilet door creaked open and in popped in one of the teaching staff, checking that everyone was in class.

When she saw me she instantly came and stood next to my.

"why are you not in class?" she asked looking around the bathroom to see if anybody else was in here.

"Cleaning my face miss" i answered.

"You should be in class" She said.

"The truth is i'm not feeling well" i lied hoping she'd fall for it.

"Right then, come with me you can sit the morning in the nurses office i have a nice pile of paper work you can sort out for me" She said signalling towards the door.

I nodded and walked the direction to the nurses office.

Miss Redfields was a nice elderly lady, always smiling and always very jolly.

When she saw me she came and put her hand on my forehead checking i didn't have a temperature.

Which i didn't.

"You've been crying sweetie whats the matter" she whispered so only i could hear.

I nodded.

"Right then come to my private office so i can check you properly" she was pushing me to where she worked.

Once inside she closed the door and sat down telling me to come and sit next to her, which i obeyed.

"Now dear you tell me whats the matter, i wont say anything patient honour", she said crossing her fingers and putting them to her heart,

I laughed a little and decided that it might help to tell some one and Miss Redfields was the perfect someone.

"On Friday we through a party without our parents knowing, this one guy, whom i really like, seemed to like me too." Miss was watching me.

I carried on.

"But then when my parents came in my older sister said they was dating, it ripped my heart out, and today i went to a bar and he was there with her, she kissed him on the cheek, he said he ended it last night but then why would she still be there in the morning, he makes me feel funny, i want to get to know him and i don't know what to do" i said a tear rolling down my cheek.

"Ohh Dear." She said handing me a tissue and wrapping her arm around my shoulder.

"how old is this boy?" she asked.

I looked at her and answered honestly.

"19" i said smiling a little smile.

"Well dear, i'm not the one who's supposed to say this but, boys his age are only after one thing" Miss said rubbing my back.

"i don't think he'd do that" i stated.

"maybe your right dear, but maybe you need to be careful i cant tell you what to do but i can be here when you need me, here love take my card anytime you need to talk call" Miss said smiling.

"ok i will" I answered looking at the white wooden door trying to find pictures out of the pattern.

Sorting through the paper work was boring, but it saved me from having to be in class which was a good thing according to the way i feel today.

After an hour of endless paper, Mr Hobson walked in to say that Mrs Swirler said i was free to leave for lunch.

Ellis stood outside the cafeteria waiting for me.

We walked silently to the queue and got out lunch, i decided i wanted to eat sweet things, i chose to miss dinner and go straight to desert i had a chocolate cake followed with a nice chocolate bun.

Ellis stared at me as i started to eat, we sat at our usual table, Toby sat with his friends but occasionally looked at Ellis is googly eyes, she giggled.

Soon all her attention was focused on me.

"Ok. What happened Friday" she asked.

"Nothing" my answer was short and sweet, i really don't want to discus this with her right now.

Ellis seemed to understand.

"Ok, i'll leave this conversation until we have one of our sleepovers again, but you gotta promise to spill the beans" I nodded and started drinking my Strawberry milkshake.

Lunch took forever to finish.

Double Gym Next YAY!!!!!

We had to swim laps today, the school was a five minute walk from the swimming baths so thats where we all went.

Everyone wore plain black swimming two pieces the top ending just below the belly button (:D LOL) the bottom ending just in the middle of the thigh.

After swimming over 20 laps the whole class was exhausted, and it was now time to leave so we'd make it back in time for English.

The lesson had already started when a couple of us entered. I took my seat at the back next to Ellis and saw what we said reading.

Pride and Prejudice.

Mr Darcy!!! Automatically made me think of how James's voice sounded.

The clocked ticked every so slowly the hour class seemed to last for eternity.

Finally the bell rang and it was time to go home.....

Inside the house everything was quiet the only sound was of my mother clicking away on the key board.

I walked over to her office and knocked on the door.

"Come in" she said.

Opening the door i saw my mother her long wavy red hair dangling down her face, her glasses at the bottom of her nose, her eyes never leaving the screen.

"Hey mum" i said walking over to sit crossed leg on the chair opposite.

"Hey sweetheart" She answered looking up smiling then focusing on her story once again.

I Decided to make her feel good.

"You seem to be writing a lot i'm smelling another best seller" i said, She looked up and smiled a huge smile.

"oh Angel i sure hope so, it'd be fantastic, i could take a break from writing and we could all go away on holiday together, like a proper family." She smiled at the thought her eyes glistening.

"yeah, that would be great" i said imagining yellow sand and blue sea, palm trees in the back ground me in my favourite blue bikini, the beach house behind. James sunbathing.

Wait what.....No not James....Why the hell am i thinking about him.

I'm so frustrated by myself.

"Sweetie, you should stop creasing your forehead it'll give you wrinkles" my mother added, looking down at her work.

"ok" i said standing up to walk next to her kissing her on the cheek i walked out of the room closing her door behind and making my way to my room the once place, i feel truly at home.

Chapter 6

Majestic 5

Hey....Sorry it's only short.

I need to go out, so this is all i could fit in right now.

I shall write more tonight.....

IF ANYONE HAS ANY IDEA'S ABOUT WHAT COULD HAPPEN TO HAYDEN NEXT PLEASE PLEASE DO SUGGEST. :P

THANK YOU ALL FOR READING.....

MEL.... :D :D :D :D :D

xxxxxxxxx

Chapter 5.....(No name yet :P)

That night i dreamt again....

The dark heavenly sky hovered high above.

A cool breeze swirling around me making my hair cover my face.

Why was i here, where is this place, i didn't recognise it.

Looking around my surroundings i noticed i was standing in front of a house.

The bricks a rusty red colour, wild flowers captured the garden.

The windows covered with deep blood red curtains, a little post box stood untouched.

Un ruined, brand new.

I walked over to it reaching for it slowly, the little door opened, inside i could feel a small letter.

Carefully taking it out i saw that it was a letter.

The name was written carefully in the middle.

Hayden!

My fingers traced around the writing, i didn't recognise it.

Opening the little seal i peeked inside.

It read....

Dearest Hayden.....

I thought it's time you knew the truth about everything.

You need to know about me, you, your parents, brothers, sister and James!!!

Ok.

It started the day you was born into this world.

The day i first laid my eyes upon you, the true feelings i felt holding you little hand.

The warming of my skin.

Hayden I am.....

The letter ended, the writing getting impossible to read, it was all smudged.

Sighing i looked around, and saw a shadow of a man, his hands in his pocket his head bent down looking towards the floor.

My eyes started to ache, i tried to make my vision clearer once it was i realised i was looking at my black silk curtains...

It was all a dream.

Looking at the alarm clock i realised it was five in the morning.

And hour early to get up, but that didn't matter.

Crawling over to the bathroom i looked at my reflection.

My hair was a mess, my eyes looked tired, like they was deprived from sleep.

I inhaled and turned on the shower.

Once inside i let the warm water run down my back.,,

I wonder what the dream was about, and the letter.

Did it mean anything.

After standing there for a long time, i washed my hair and shaved my legs, stepping out i wrapped a towel around me, deciding that was easier to reach.

Once i dried myself i did the same with my hair,

I decided to curl it to make a change, It looked great.

Before Adding eyeliner, mascara and a little bit of gloss i brushed my teeth then walked into the bedroom to get changed.

I wore some black jeans that complemented my curves gracefully and a Black Twilight top, before walking downstairs to start on my breakfast.

Chapter 7

Majestic 6

HEHE.....Happy Birthday to me!

I hope this is juicy for you guys.

You should thank me i gave up an hour of my birthday time to write this chapter for you..... :P

Joke i loved writing it!

I thought i'd changed the story line a bit but i promise James will re enter shortly.

WOw....Doesn't that Sean sound Dreamy and what a gentleman.

COMMENT PLEASE.....

:D :D :D

Chapter 6.....

Months passed in a blur, everything around me stayed the same but i changed!

I longer looked at myself and thought of an average girl.

When i looked in the mirror i saw somebody i wanted to be, somebody who was loved and people enjoyed being around, someone popular.

Monday morning the day that changed my life.....Past

The outside world looked alien, there was a thick blanket of snow covering the roads, grass and everything in view.

Icicles hang from the edge of my window.

December, the coldest month in London.

Ellis sat crossed legged on my bed, finishing copying my homework.

Her long black hair hung down her back, her fringe (Bangs) covering her eyes.

A faint sound of the radio playing from the other room.

Opening the window i let the cool breeze capture my room.

Smiling i stuck my head out to feel the breeze faster.

"Are you trying to commit suicide" Ellis asked finally looking up from my History book.

"No, it just feels so good" I answered.

"Honey, there are a lot of things that feel good, but personally a icy breeze isn't one"

Shaking my head at her i pulled the window shut and shivered slightly.

"See, you're freezing" Ellis rolled her eyes looking back down at the book again.

Sighing i made my way to the bathroom to run warm water over my cold face.

The water washed away every trace of ever been cold.

I wanted to stay there forever and relax in the only place where no one every bothered me, where i could live peacefully.

Shame, we couldn't breath under water, i'd spend my whole life in it if i could.

Closing my eyes i recapped on what had happened in the past two months.

Ellis and Toby split up they finally realised they was too different, and that their group of friends didn't mix.

Alicia moved schools!!! The best news i had ever heard, everyone was talking when she walked in crying leaning on the middle table she sobbed her heart out about how her mother was forcing her to move so that they could have a fresh start in India. I could help but smile, what would the other Blonde bitch do when her master wasn't around.

I also found out i was moving to the other side of the school, so i'm in completely different classes with completely different people and today is my first day.

"Hayden are you ready to leave" Ellis asked poking her head through the door.

"Yep, let me get my jacket" i answered pushing past her and grabbing my jacket i excited the house with Ellis following behind.

The class room was nearly empty i recognised a few people that i had seen around school, making my way to the back i sat down looking towards the white board avoiding peoples curious glares.

After about ten minutes Mr Ryder walked in placing a large brown brief case, looking at the class.

He wore a grey suit jacket and grey trousers with a buttoned up suit top.

His large oval glasses placed just at the bottom of his nose.

He cleared his throat and rose from his chair walking to stand in front of the desk opposite the white board.

"Ok class, you must all have seen Hayden around, she's been moved in here as us teachers believe she is very academic able that she has missed a stage and moved up to the top set, welcome" Mr Ryder said pointing at me and clapping his big long hairy hands.

I smiled and blushed red when i realised everyone else was now clapping their hands and looking at me with amused expressions.

Mr Ryder told the class to talk amongst ourselves for ten minutes while he sorted through some paperwork that we needed for today's lesson.

The class erupted with chatter.

Everyone talking about their own subjects, every now or then i'd hear my name being mentioned, and get side wards glances from the students not daring to look right at me, like most of the students was.

Putting my head down i started to doodle of the back of my planner, shading in the random love hearts i had drawn the previous day.

All of a sudden the class was silenced by the door slamming open and in walking the hottest guy to walk this planet.

He had blonde shaggy hair, his fringe (Bangs) covering one of his eyes, which was crystal blue visible from miles away.

Daring my eyes to look down from his face i gasped, he wore a buttoned down black suit top with black jeans. And may i say left nothing for the imagination.

Sighing my eyes opened wider when i realised that his eyes was on me, i blushed red for the second time in the past fifteen minutes,

"Yes young man" Mr Ryder said looking directly at him.

"I'm your new student" He answered in the sexiest voice i had ever heard shivers ran down my spine causing a small moan escape my lips, which thankfully was to quite for anyone to hear.

"What's your name lad" He said standing up and placing his hands on his hips.

"My name is Sean" He answered, most of the girls in the class sighed and all of the boys glared at Sean.

I kept looking at his perfect face, realising again that he was looking around the room quickly before his eyes landed on mine causing me to blush redder again.

The class lasted for eternity, Sean had to sit right next to me!

I moved up the desk leaving a wide space between us not daring to move closer because of the pressure i felt pulling me towards him, touching his hair, rubbing his cheeks, kissing his perfect plumb lips.

He looked at me from the corner of his eyes.

Finally the bell rung, standing up i pushed in my chair and turned around to feel a strong hand grab my hand and pull me to face him.

I held my breath afraid that if i smelled his cologne i would get drunk and say something very stupid.

"I'm Sean" he said, his hand still holding mine.

"i,I,I'm Hayydenn" I said blushing because of my stutter.

"Thats a nice name" he stated, his finger rubbing the back of my hand.

I smiled a little smile and won a huge breath taking smile back.

"What class do you have next?" He asked staring right into my eyes.

"I have Maths how about you" i answered completely dazed by his heavenly stare.

"Maths, do you wanna walk together" he asked, looking at me from under his eye lashes.

"I'd love to" i said.

Oh no.... i didn't say i'd love to thats so stupid i bet he thinks i'm some stupid little girl that has a crush on his like every other little girl he's met.

"Good because so would it" he answered winking at me before grabbing my bag from my shoulders and walking towards Maths.

People stared and they gossiped, i don't think there was anyone who didn't look once.

Every now and then Sean glanced down at me and smiled winking occasionally.

In Maths i was assigned to sit by myself, Sean used his charms and got to sit next to me, i this time didn't sit farther away, i sat close and enjoyed the heat and cologne vibrating off of him.

The day passed in the same why, Sean got to sit next to me, i didn't concentrate of my lessons but concentrated of memorising his beauty half expecting to come to school tomorrow and find out he'd disappeared.

Standing by my locked waiting for Ellis i saw Sean walking my way with a huge smile plastered on his face.

He came and stood by me, a took my hand in his before slightly kissing the top of it smiling down at me and walking away without a backwards glance.

Present.....

February two months before school ends.

COMMENT FOR THE NEXT CHAPTER.....VOTE. AND ADD ME AS A FAN IF YOU LIKE. :P

NEXT PART UPLOADED SATURDAY OR MAYBE FRIDAY DEPENDS ON HOW LONG IT TAKES ME TO GET READY FOR THE PARTY!

:D :D :D xxxxxx

Chapter 8

Majestic 6 continued!!!

HAHA HOPE YOU ENJOY!

COMMENT AND VOTE PLEASE.

NEXT CHAPTER WILL BE UPLOAD WHEN PEOPLE COMMENT.

LOVE YOU ALL. YOU ARE THE REASON WHY I CARRY ON UPLOADING.

ALL COMMENT WELCOME.

<3 <3 <3

:D :D :P

Present.....

February two months before school ends.

The table sat seven or eight people, elegant chandeliers hung from the ceilings millions of candles stood on golden candle stands, every table contained a bottle of champagne, sitting next to that was a vase of very expensive flowers with all the colours of the rainbow.

Ellis wore a strapless tight fitting dark blue dress her hair hung down her back in little ringlets.

Where as mine was blood red revealing a good amount of cleavage. My normal curly brown hair was now straight and had light brown highlights and short layers.

Sean sat opposite look gorgeous as ever.

Every time i see him i cant help but wonder how someone so god like would think twice about liking me, even though he's told me millions of times about how pretty i was and how much he really liked me i couldn't help but doubt.

We've been dating for three months and so far it's going great!

Flashback.....

Looking in the mirror i couldn't decided whether or not to wear a dress or a nice top and maybe a short skirt.

After many minutes of trying both the outfits on i decided to wear the dress which was black and not too short perfect for a first date.

The door knocked, i could hear my father letting Sean in, instantly butterflies flew around in my stomach i wanted to throw up.

Inhaling a few times from my mouth i sighed and walked downstairs.

Sean stood in the door way wearing a elegant black suit, boy was i glad i wore the dress.

As soon as he saw me, a smile flashed on his face that made every nerve in my body form into a live wire.

I smiled a huge smile hoping it didn't look cheesy.

Inside the car the radio played quietly making me relax completely.

Sean drove with one hand while his other slowly caressed the back of my left hand making the hairs on my arm stand up tall.

"I hope you'll like this" He commented gazing at me sideways.

"I'm sure i will" I said smiling at him and earning a huge smile in return.

Today his eyes was bluer then i'd ever seen them, there seemed to be a sparkle that wasn't always there.

The car drove to a stop opposite a glowing lake.

Lights hung on the large trees making little patterns in the water.

I gasped as i saw a little picnic table and two little stools, surrounding them was red candles and various different colours of roses.

Getting out of the car i saw that rose petals were scattered on the table and on top of them was two little plates and glasses.

Sean came to stand behind me, he wrapped an arm around my waist and whispered in my ear.

"Do you like it?" He asked, his voice making me melt.

I couldn't answer at first.

"Like it i love it, Sean it's it's" I couldn't think of a word that described it right.

He chuckled in my ear and kissed me on the cheek leading me towards the table.

Pulling out my chair he sat me down before taking his seat.

From under the table he pulled out a little picnic basket.

Smiling sheepishly he said.

"I can decorate good but i cant cook to save my life" he said honestly.

I laughed and smiled.

"So, i ordered a meal, i hope you don't mind."

"Nope not at all," I said smelling the food inside the picnic basket.

Sean pulled out a container full of Doner Kebabs.

I Laughed as he started to dish out the food, then adding chips and salad he brought out the sources.

Smiling i singled for him to choose his sauce first.

He chose Garlic Meyo, so i did the same.

Soon we started eating.

The food tasted delicious.

"So, Hayden, honestly i didn't think you'd agree to come on a date with me" Sean said looking down at his hands that rested near his plate.

I suddenly felt hurt, why would he think that.

"Why" I asked.

"Do you really have to ask" Sean said looking up at me and smiling slightly, hurt clearly in his eyes.

"I don't understand why you'd say that" I said not being able to hide the hurt in my voice.

He reached for my hand caressing it slightly.

"I mean, you....you... you are everything a boy can want, i mean....you're funny, smart, gorgeous. When i saw you I instantly thought she has a boy friend, but i couldn't help but hope.

The first three weeks of just reckless flirting was great but i wanted to know where i stood, so i asked you out, but i thought you'd say no! When those four words came out of your mouth 'Yes i'd love to' i was delighted you wont believe how happy i felt."

My soul melted at his words i stared at his eyes and couldn't look away mesmerised by the truth he spoke.

"Stupid as it sounds i took the day of school today to get this place ready, i did try to cook but when i went the answer the phone i left it on think i'd switched it off and yep the dinner burned" Sean said blushing and laughing at his silly mistake.

I laughed along with him but stopped when i noticed he was going to carry on.

"And when i saw you standing at the bottom of the stairs wearing your dress i couldn't breath you don't know how beautiful you look tonight, you don't know how beautiful you look every day and night"

I Blushed at his words and entwined my fingers in his.

Sean ran on of his hands in his hair before placing it back in mine.

"So you can imagine how happy i felt when i saw your expression tonight. Hayden. Hayden. I. I want to tell you something. I know you might think it's simply too soon but it's to truth and i want you to know, i'll understand if you don't feel like that but i hope that with time you will" Sean said looking straight into my eyes now. I inhaled and felt my heart quicken in pace.

"Hayden I love you!" His words stuck in my heart making shivers of pleasure run through my entire body.

Without thinking I stood up and walked to where he sat, our hands still entwined i looked in his eyes and spoke what i felt in my heart.

"Sean. I've been through a lot lately and everything seemed to be bad, but that past few weeks has been a turn for the better, when you walked into that class i believe that my life has changed forever, I love you too." I said.

His eyes widened at my words, one of his hands gently stroked my face.

I kissed his palm and saw him smile.

His other hand worked it's way to my cheek he cupped my face and brought his lips to mine.

First it was gentle how a kiss is supposed to be, then the kiss sweetened i wrapped my arms around his neck my hands pulling at his hair.

He moaned causing me to moan slightly.

We broke for breath staring into each others eyes.

I'm loved i love and there is nothing that can ever bring me down.

Flashback end.....

The waiter came to our table asking what we wanted to order, i chose a salad, as i'd eat before we came out.

Sean sat opposite me smiling his huge handsome smile causing shivers through me again.

Ellis watched us like an owl tell me exactly what his reactions meant.

Me and Sean haven't had sex yet, and honestly i don't think we're even close to that stage.

But i do know that when both of us are ready it will be the most spectacular moment of our lives.

Chapter 9

majestic 7

I TRIED TO MAKE THIS CHAPTER LONGER SO I HOPE YOU ENJOY.

COMMENT PLEASE, VOTE, AND READ MORE.

THANK YOU.....

LOVE YOU ALL. XXX <3 <3 :D :P

Chapter 7.....

The front door to my house was wide open as Sean parked the car in our drive way.

Facing Sean i shrugged my shoulders knowing what his unasked question was.

"I better go in" i said leaning to kiss him goodnight.

Sean held me to him and looked deeply in my eyes.

"Maybe i should come in just in case" His voice was full with worry.

Sighing i nodded my head and untied my seatbelt before stepping out into the cold February breeze.

He came to stand by me quickly, wrapping one arm around my waist we made our way into the house.

There was no lights switched on, except the little lamp that we kept in the living room.

I gulped and walked slowly towards the light with Sean right next to me.

Before i pushed the door open to where the light was shining from i turned around to face Sean.

"It'll be alright babe, i'm sure it's nothing." He said kissing my forehead he leaned over me and pushed the door open.....

Flashback.....

He had short black hair sweeping across one eye, and Green sparkling eyes, the straightest nose i had ever seen, lips plump and very tempting.

He was muscular but not as big as the other Blonde guys.

He walked over to the mic and started to sing.

Flashback End.....

And there he was sitting crossed legged on the long white sofa.

My eyes wouldn't move no matter how much i tried i couldn't turn away from him and look at Sean, who still had his arm wrapped around me.

After a few seconds i tried to speak but all that came out was a squeak.

The boy on the sofa turned to face me, his eyes darkened as he saw Sean's arm wrapped around my waist.

I couldn't see the look Sean was giving him but i could feel it.

My eyes were still glued to him, why was he here after all these months of not seeing him why was James here!

In the back of my head my mind was telling me to run and wrap my arms around him forget the past few months and feel like the old me again, but the other part was telling me to kick him out you're with Sean he loves you, you love him, what has Sean ever done to deserve you to choose James over him, all James has done to you is hurt you, never answered your calls when you rang thousands of times after that one tense time in the bar.

Sighing i pulled my gaze away from him and at Sean.

I gasped at what i saw, his expression tore my heart apart, i'd never seen him so hurt. His blue eyes sparkled not from joy or happiness but from the liquid making its was out.

I forced my hand up to his face and touched his cheek, his face seemed to relax but his eyes gave away his true feelings.

I sighed and pulled Sean into the room with me and sat on the sofa opposite James.

"What do you want" i said as cold as i could.

His face hardened.

"I wanted to talk to you" He began. James's voice brought a shiver through me, i'm sure that Seam noticed because he tightened his arms around me and rested his chin in my hair, while staring directly at James.

I didn't say anything i just looked at him, soon James realised i wanted him to carry on.

" I got your messages!" He said.

"That was months ago" i answered, peeking up at Sean who's face was now turning redder then ever.

"I know. But in October when you stopped texting i thought there was no point in texting back, and a few things have happened since then" He said, his eyes turning hard.

"so, then if there wasn't any point then why did you come today" I asked angry that he chose to come and make me ever so confused...

JAMES POV.....

"So then if there isn't any point then why did you come today?" Hayden asked, her expression hardening.

Sighing i began.

"It's not something i can tell you with him here" i said mentioning the dirt bag holding onto her.

"Well unfortunately for you he's not going anywhere" Hayden answered, she moved her hand and entwined it through his.

"Fine" i sneered.

"Then i wont tell you! If you cant trust me enough to be alone with me, then i don't trust you to tell you why i came here" I was so angry.

My hands curled into fists. The creature smiled i wanted to punch him and hurt him terribly.

Standing up i straightened my jacket and without a back wards glance i made my way out of the door.

It had started to rain which was a good thing, now to world wont be able to see my tears.

The long walk back to the hell hole i'm staying in was very disturbing.

Two drunken men harassing a young girl, the smell of Urine and sick filled my nose and made me gag.

The sky was now pitch black with only the street lamps and the lights coming from the bars and clubs Lite my way.

My apartment stood a mile down the road, no lights was on which meant everyone was asleep.

Sighing i jumped on my bed without bothering to undress i pulled of my shoes and got ready to have another restless sleep.

Flashback

Lights decorated the trees, roses in vases circled a table and two stools.

A black mustang drove by and parked just a minutes walk from the picnic table.

And out came Hayden and some guy.

Instantly jealousy ran through me, i hid behind a tree and watched amazed.

He wrapped his arms around her and whispered something to her before they both walked over to the table.

Hayden looked stunning wearing a short tight black dress.

He pulled her chair out for her and she sat down.

I was breathless, i wanted her so much.

After a few minutes he spoke.

"So, Hayden, honestly i didn't think you'd agree to come on a date with me" He said looking down at his

."Why" Hayden asked.

"Do you really have to ask" He said looking up at her and smiling slightly, hurt clearly in his eyes.

"I don't understand why you'd say that" She said not being able to hide the hurt in her voice.

He reached for her hand caressing it slightly.

"I mean, you....you... you are everything a boy can want, i mean....you're funny, smart, gorgeous. When i saw you I instantly thought she has a boy friend, but i couldn't help but hope.

The first three weeks of just reckless flirting was great but i wanted to know where i stood, so i asked you out, but i thought you'd say no! When those four words came out of your mouth 'Yes i'd love to' i was delighted you wont believe how happy i felt."

"Stupid as it sounds i took the day of school today to get this place ready, i did try to cook but when i went the answer the phone i left it on think i'd switched it off and yep the dinner burned" he said blushing and laughing at his silly mistake. I couldn't help but smile at that

Hayden laughed along with him.

"And when i saw you standing at the bottom of the stairs wearing your dress i couldn't breath you don't know how beautiful you look tonight, you don't know how beautiful you look every day and night"

She Blushed a wonderful colour before entwining her fingers with his.

"So you can imagine how happy i felt when i saw your expression tonight. Hayden. Hayden. I. I want to tell you something. I know you might think it's simply too soon but it's to truth and i want you to know, i'll understand if you don't feel like that but i hope that with time you will" he said looking straight into her eyes . No my mind was screaming at me, no don't say it.

"Hayden I love you!" His words stuck in my heart breaking it in two.

Hayden stood up and walked over to where he sat still holding his hands she spoke.

"Sean. I've been through a lot lately and everything seemed to be bad, but that past few weeks has been a turn for the better, when you walked into that class i believe that my life has changed forever, I love you too." she said.

His eyes widened at her words, one of his hands gently stroked her face.

she kissed his palm and saw him smile.

His other hand worked it's way to her cheek he cupped her face and brought his lips to hers.

I wanted to pull them apart she wrapped her arms around his neck her hands pulling at his hair.

He moaned causing her to moan slightly.

they broke for breath staring into each others eyes.

Tears fell down my face, i will have to see her i will have to make her believe how much i love her, but not until the time is right.

Flashback End

My whole body was screaming for sleep, but i couldn't help but think about Hayden and that guy!

What was they doing, does she really love him, does he really love her or does he only want to get her in bed.

My hands curled into fists at that, i will kll him if he does, if he ever upsets her i'll kill him and i'll enjoy it.

HAYDEN POV.....

James walked out just like that.

Tears filled my eyes, i rested my head on Sean trying to hide the tears but failed miserably.

"Hey baby, look at me" Sean said putting his hand on my chin and pulled my face up so he could see my face.

I smiled slightly.

He kissed my forehead and hugged me close.

I couldn't help the tears fall down my face.

After a few minutes of crying i looked up and Sean and saw him watching me with an hurt expression.

"Hayden, please tell me who he is?" Sean asked.

I sighed inhaling i began.

"James, i liked him and i thought he liked me, i found out he dated my sister, i found out they broke up, and then i texted him everyday for a month but he never texted back, he said he didn't see the point." I said, another tear falling down my face.

Sean's eyes darkened as he watched me.

"What about me" He asked his voice cracking.

"Sean, i love you that will not change, i just felt so angry at him i guess i've had an emotional break down!" I answered, kissing him sweetly.

"I love you too" He said, sweetening the kiss.

I shivered in pleasure, and rested my head on his chest, i soon fell asleep.

SEAN POV.....

She slept ever so sweetly, i couldn't help but stroke her face and run my fingers in her hair.

I could watch her sleep for ever.

"I love you" i whispered in her ear.

She smiled slightly.

I kissed her on her cheek and rested my head on the back of the sofa before letting my eyes drift closed.

Chapter 10

Majestic 8

HOPE YOU ENJOY :P

Chapter 8.....

The rusty smell was unwelcoming. The pitch black darkness was uninviting, but i felt myself moving towards the wooden door.

One step at a time, my hand reached for the metal door knob, turning it anti clock wise i glanced at the room inside.

It was quiet, too quite. The room had been abandoned years ago.

A double bed sat in the middle of the large room, dusted white curtains hung in front of the blocked out windows from ceiling to floor.

I could feel aged carpets under my feet, but couldn't make out the colour.

The silence pierced my ears, feel of unease crept from my toes to me fingers.

On the slightest light came in from one of the cracks in the blocked windows, i studied the light, wishing it would grow and light the whole room.

I walked in closer to the crack in the window.

As i got closer i felt watched, I'm being stupid, there nothing and no one here but me i tried to convince myself but failed miserably.

My fingers ran over the wood as i tired to pull it off.

It had rotted from age, and left a long dark line of dirt on my fingers.

Pushing in my finger i pulled at one of the planks which moved slightly only revealing the tiniest more light.

I turned to face the room to see what it had shined on.

Gasping my hand came to cover my mouth as i stared at the little box.

Taking step by step, making sure not to get in way of the light i ran my now black finger tips over the metal frame the dust fluttered off revealing a little rose on the lid.

I carried on wiping more and saw that there was a name imprinted on it.

Picking up the box i walked slowly to the window and placed the box under the light to get a clearer image of the name.

And there it was in clear pink writing.

Little Hayden!

My heart skipped a beat.

I'd drove her to school, then headed towards my place, when i saw a clearing in the forest, as nosey as i am, i followed it only to find a little cottage, the was overflowing with weeds and plants, it took me a good hour to finally reach the door, and now i'm here looking at this box.

I carried on wiping it, hoping it revealed more.

Nothing, the only thing i discovered was a little key hole but no key.

Thats when i remembered that Hayden always wore a little golden key around her neck.

I had to see her, if only i can get out of here without hurting myself.

I stood up and faced the door.....

"What are you doing here" A Husky male voice shouted.

My back straightened in fear, and i started to shake.

"Nothing" i replied my voice coming out all squeaky.

"How can you be doing nothing" He said taking a step close, i couldn't see his features but i could tell that he was tall and bigger then i was.

"I was just looking around" I said taking a step back only to lean on the window.

Crap i thought.

I tucked in my finger between the wood and pulled as hard as i could trying to loosen one big block, if need by that would be my escape.

But no luck it didn't budge, i tried again.

A piercing snap flooded the room, turning to face the window the crack came from the wood.

Great now he knows what i'm doing.

The man walked closer to the window before standing right in front of it, he covered the light completely leaving my no chance of seeing.

I felt his arm brush against mine I jerked it back.

The wooden plank splintered to the floor, the man moved out of the way only his finger in view he pointed to the door and said.

"Leave and never come back" he said before disappearing completely.

Still holding onto the box i crawled out of the window and ran home without an backwards glance....

DING the microwave sang, i hadn't realised i'd tuned out.

My dinner waited only a minute away, but i wasn't hungry anymore.

Running as fast as my legs could take me i entered my room getting on my knees i looked under the bed and pulled out the box.

Little Hayden was still written on the top in pink acrylic writing.

I inhaled sharply and took out my phone before dialing the number.

"hello" A little angel like voice sang through the speaker.

I listened for a few seconds before clearing my throat an answering.

"Hayden is that you" i asked.

"Who else is it going to be" She said sounding annoyed.

I laughed slightly.

"I need to see you" I replied.

I heard her sigh.

"James, i don't think thats a good idea" Her voice sounded sad.

"Look i only want to talk, i've found something that belongs to you" I said.

"Ok then where" She sounded more hopeful.

"The bar we met a couple of months ago" I said.

"Ok, i'll be there in half an hour, bye" She said and hung up without giving me a chance to answer.

I ran down the stairs and grabbed my coat before locking the door i walked to the bar...

HAYDEN POV

Everything was how i remembered it, the bar, the stage, the tables.

James sat in the corner with a little white box.

I walked closer and forced a smile on my face.

He saw me enter and smiled a huge smile before patting the space next to him.

Breathing in i walked and sat down.

JAMES POV

She seemed to hesitate before running her fingers over the writing.

Her eyes had darkened and she had an questioning expression on her face.

"They key i around your neck" i said.

She looked at me and thanked me with her eyes before she reached around her neck and found the necklace taking it off she fingered the key.

Rotating it between her fingers.

"Will you open it" She asked looked directly at me.

Nodding i gently took it off her and stuck in the hole twisting slightly it came undone.

Chapter 11

Majestic 9

SORRY THIS IS SOOO SHORT I HAVE TO GO OUT.

SO THIS IS ALL I HAVE TIME FORE

COMMENT PLEASE

:P

Chapter 9 .....

"Will you open it" She asked looked directly at me.

Nodding i gently took it off her and stuck in the hole twisting slightly it came undone.

The lid bounced up revealing a mirror and a ballerina spinning on one leg, a sweet melody started to play.

I glanced at Hayden who now had her eyes closed and was smiling slightly, she looked like an Angel, my Angel!

I smiled at my self, there was nothing in it.

Just a music box, nothing of importance.

HAYDEN POV

The melody flooded my ears causing me to close my eyes, it sounded so familiar yet so far away.

Where have i heard this before.

Little Hayden it read on the lid, my favourite flower decorated the top.

The key that hung around my neck finally had a place a home.

Sighing i opened my eyes only to see James watching me with a huge grin.

Blushing i turned to face the bar.

"Wanna drink, i'll get us a coke" James asked following my gaze.

"Please" i said nodding.

The coke was in my hands within seconds.

"That was fast" i stated.

James laughed.

Facing him i smiled and laughed along.

Chapter 12

Majestic 10

Sorry for the long wait!!!!!!!

I'm writing in business studies.....Finally able to upload a little.

But more is coming....

COMMENT, VOTE Thanks.....

xxxx Hannah- thanks for the grammer help. :P x

Hours passed like minutes, it was so easy sitting next to james and sharing stories. The sky started to darken the stars started to appear.

I couldn't help but think about what me being here with James would do to Sean.

Shaking my head i tried to remove the image of his hurt expression.

I turned to face James, instantly i knew what was going to happen, he inched closer, his breath exploring my face. My breath caught in my throat as he moved for the last time before his lips captured mine. My body started to react, my arms went around his neck, i started kissing him back, moans escaped both our lips. His hands started to move down my back and rub in circular motions.

He tilted my head to deepen the kiss, his tongue entered my mouth causing a louder moan from me.

Shivers ran down my spine, i wanted his touch, his kiss, i want him.

We seperated to breath but his lips never left my skin, he started to kiss my cheeks, ears, neck before they found their way back to my mouth.

I ran my hands down his hard abs. He was very toned.

"We need to stop" i said breathing heavily.

James leaned back to look at me. His expression one of shame and betrayal.

"I'm sorry Hayden" He said shaking his head slightly.

Tears fell down my cheek. what had i done.

"I didn't think, please dont cry" James wrapped his arms around me and let me cry on his shoulder.

After a while he spoke.

"Listen, i know your with Sean, i promise Hayden i will never mention tonight"

He sounded disappointed.

"It wasn't just you, i'm so confused." I answered truthfully.

And i was, when i'm with James i know who to choose when i'm with Sean i know who to choose. But the truth is i dont, and that scares me, more then anything i have ever witnesses. Nightmares didn't sound so bad compared to the choice i was going to make.

"I better go" I said unwrapping his arms around me and standing up.

"I'll walk you home" James said.

I Shook my head and kissed his cheek slightly, he smiled a weak smile.

That hurt, i forced a smile back and walked out the bar.

The cool air reminded me of what time it must be, the watch i wore on my left arm stated that it was now ten at night.

Walking home i tried to get my breathing back to normal.

Everything was quiet as i entered the house, no lights on, everybody must be asleep.

I wasn't hungry so i made my way to my room and into a warm shower.

The water washed away the feel of James arms, and lips, his scent left my nostrils.

The water relaxed me, getting out i dried my hair and got ready for bed.

A picture sat on my night stand, it was of me and Sean on our first date by the river, tears filled my eyes.

I'd never felt to ashamed. What would i do if Sean had done anything like that to me, i'd be heartbroken, i could never forgive him.

my knees crumbled i lay on the floor, tears escaping my eyes, i started to cry heavily, wishing i could just sleep, i didn't move i just layed there...

I was woken by the sun shining through the curtains. Dazed i sat up, i was still on the floor, yesterdays events flooded my memory. sighing i stood up and got ready for school, knowing that today was going to be one of the worst days of my life.

Ellis skipped up to my locker with a huge smile on her face.

she was her normal bubbly self.

I forced a smile and concentrated on typing in my combination.

"So you gonna ask whats up?" She asked.

"What up" i said not sounding very interested.

"Danny asked me out" She said smiling.

I smiled at her, a small smile but a real smile.

Danny was such a sweet guy, smart, kind and very friendly, he's perfect for her.

"Thats great Ellis" i said smiling.

"I cant belive he likes me, i mean he's not the best looking guy, but he is sweet" she said smiling even bigger.

I felt truelly happy for her.

Arms wrapped around my waist, i stiffened knowing who it was.

"Hey" he whispered in my ear.

"Hi" i said feeling uncomfortable.

Ellis eyed me looking confused, i knew instantly that she was going to quiz me about why i was reacting like this tomorrow.

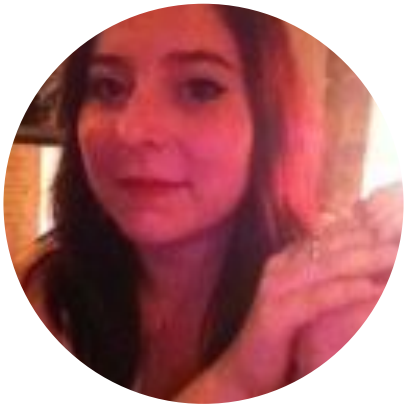
I closed my eyes and wished for the day to end.

About the Author



Melis-E-Rowe